

NCL 2025 Membership List

Updated: June 10, 2025

The following organizations have renewed their NCL membership for 2025 or become new organizational members. All have been invoiced. We have received membership renewal payments from organizations in bold.

Full Member Renewals

National Center for Families Learning

American Association for Adult & Continuing Education

Proliteracy

Literacy Action Network

TESOL

American Library Association

Goodling Institute for Research

Barbara Bush Foundation

COABE

Center for Applied Linguistics

CASAS

The TLP Group

Adult Numeracy Network

Literacy Minnesota/Northstar Digital Literacy

Literacy Assistance Center

WestEd

Jobs for the Future

Associate Member Renewals

Research Allies for Lifelong Learning

Migration Policy Institute

Pennsylvania Association for Adult & Continuing Education

National Skills Coalition

Arkansas Adult Learning Alliance, Inc.

Mississippi Community College Board

Montgomery Coalition for Adult Education & Literacy

Maine Adult Education Association

Adult Literacy Research Center at Georgia State

ScaleLit

GED Testing Service

AIR

AALPD

Alabama Association for Public, Continuing and Adult Education
Delaware Division of Libraries

Full New

Mountain Plains Adult Education Association
National Work Readiness Council

Associate New

Mustard Seed Training
Data Recognition Corporation

Individual

Steve Reder
Cynthia Campbell
Francine Lawson
Carol Bible (Essential Education)
Mitch Rosin
Anita Sands (ETS)
Jamie Harris (World Ed)
Robert Breitbard (Burlington English)
Peter Waite
Paul Jurmo
Angel Caraballo-Ruiz (Puerto Rico Dept of Ed)
Diana Brace
Deanna Crosson (Aztec Softward)
Jen Vanek (World Ed)

Advisors

RTI International
Philadelphia Office of Children & Families
World Education
NASDAE

Past member organizations who have not yet renewed their membership or who have not responded to us about membership:

Associate

Arizona Association for Lifelong Learning
Greenville Literacy Association
Maryland Association for Adult & Continuing Education

The Houston Mayor's Office of Adult Literacy has rescinded their NCL membership under new leadership and a new local-only focus.

QUESTION: As NCL embarks on developing a current strategic plan to chart a new path forward, what are your initial thoughts on how NCL can best support the field of adult education and literacy and its members?

Responses:

- By all members working together collaboratively to brainstorm the best path(s) forward.
- Continue with the great work already being done.
- NCL should continue to be a facilitator and convener of policy conversations regarding the adult education and family literacy landscape. This includes helping to coordinate with aligned ALL IN efforts.
- Being the voice of adult education to policy makers.
- We like what you do. Will you be sending us a bill for this? I will need an invoice to pay it and it has gone up substantially so I will need to get board approval to pay it. Thank you.
- Providing regular updates on the state of the field, actionable steps we can take to address issues, and opportunities for collaboration in our work.
- Support greater alignment and amplification of collective programmatic and policy efforts to advance the field, working together with ALL IN and other members.
- Helping coordinate advocacy efforts so that more people will understand that low literacy impacts every aspect of our lives (e.g., health, financial well-being, workforce preparedness, children's success, etc.) We need a consistent voice and message.